

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION FORENSIC PSYCHOTHERAPY 2017
CHRISTMAS SEMINAR

December 15th 2017
9.30-4.30
Oxford, Quaker Meeting House

CREATING CONTAINMENT: WORKING THERAPEUTICALLY WITH PARENTS IN CRISIS

Parents with personality dysfunction can struggle to care for their children because of their own traumatic experiences. This seminar will focus on identifying parents early and different ways of offering therapy: both individual and group. We will draw on research as well as clinical material. We invite participation from social work, mental health professionals, psychotherapists and experts by experience.

Speakers include Louise Howard, Anna Motz, and Amanda Jones
The day will be facilitated by Dr Gwen Adshead

Please come and be part of this day. All backgrounds and experience welcome.

Cost: £60.00 (£50.00 for IAFP members)

To register and pay for the seminar please go to <http://forensicpsychotherapy.com/events/view-category>

BOOK EARLY! only 60 places available.

